Tea Time with Friends

Learn Math In a fun way

This week, children learn about numbers and counting through fun and meaningful activities. The children were enthusiastic as they worked on worksheets involving writing numbers and matching objects to the correct number. These activities help children practice concentration, hand-eye coordination, and gradually develop their understanding of number concepts.

In addition, children also learn to count using concrete props, such as finger games and number games. Through play and learning, children more easily understand simple addition concepts, recognize number symbols, and learn to solve problems in a fun way. A positive learning environment fosters children's confidence and courage to try new things.

ROLEPLAY "TEA PARTY"

This week the children enjoyed a lovely tea party at school. The children sat in small groups, talked quietly, and shared tasty snacks. Everyone smiled and helped each other.

During the tea party, the children practiced good manners. They waited for their turn and shared cups. The children also learned how to pour politely and how to invite a friend to sit next to them.
